Here are some guidelines to follow so you get this project in on time:

You must choose a minimum of 8 activities to do. You must do at least 1 from each section, but not more than 2 from one section. Your aim is to complete at least 10 points (Points are in brackets). Think carefully about which activities you can do to balance sections and points. Written tasks can go into a folder or a scrapbook. [Have a contents page for your folder and number your pages] This shouldn't necessarily be a solo project, unless you want it to be of course, get the grown-ups involved too, draw upon the skills of parents, grandparents, older (or younger!) brothers and sisters. These people LOVE a challenge - but they SHOULD NOT be doing it for you!
